

How to make an impact in business

Speaker: Margaret E Ward, Clear Ink Ltd

Date: Monday 26th June 2017

Time: 19.00-21.00 (registration from 18.45)

Venue: Wood Quay Venue, Dublin City Council Civic Offices, Wood Quay, Dublin 8

Margaret E Ward is a true trailblazer, having grown her business Clear Ink to great international success while also advocating for more women's voices in the media through the influential Women on Air initiative set up by her in 2010. Margaret has great belief in the power of women to "walk over hot coals" in order to get to where they want to go and she is an inspirational speaker. She will share her tips on how to overcome your fears, take on challenges and make a real impact in business through more effective communication. The talk will be followed by networking over wine and finger food.

This event is open to non-members but all must register before 12pm on Friday 23rd June through this form: <https://goo.gl/forms/Z8yA21k6iPW9X8TE3>.

SPEAKER PROFILE: Margaret E Ward

Margaret E. Ward is an entrepreneur, journalist and diversity advocate. She founded brand communication consultancy Clear Ink in 2006 and public speaking firm Broadly Speaking in 2013. Prior to that, she worked as a financial journalist for The Irish Times, Sunday Times and Newstalk. In 2015, she was appointed to the RTE Board by the Oireachtas. She founded Women on Air to help get more female experts on the airwaves. Margaret also served on the Board of European Movement Ireland.
