Networking is the single most powerful business development tool in the 21st century. Learn how to hone your networking skills in this dynamic and energetic masterclass with internationally renowned expert Sean Weafer.

Many of us have never been properly trained in the techniques of professional and effective networking. We've all seen them... the 'natural networkers' who can approach anyone at an event, effortlessly create a rapport, build trust and yet are never seen as 'pushy'.

Delivered in a humorous and interactive style this event will leave you feeling confident and competent in the art of networking.
