History

Lonergan Corporate Gifts was set up by a young, dynamic Louise Lonergan in 1998. Louise spotted a niche in the market for high end gifts with service second to none and all based on the customer's needs.

Louise's core values were the same then as they are now. Excellence in service was and remains imperative. With a background in sales and customer care, Louise knew only too well that customers need high quality products that reflect their brand name perfectly decorated and delivered on time and with no pressure for the customer. We have a transparent and trusted system in place now for customers so that there are no last minute surprises and from the start, our customers feel like they are in safe hands. Many of our customers are with us since our first year and have stayed with us as our values have. We thank our customers for their loyalty. We value and need customer retention and we have built up an excellent reputation in truth and reliability.

About us

We provide a comprehensive corporate gift buying service tailored to meet your needs. We will work closely with you and provide the perfect choices that will suit your needs all the while reducing the time, effort and cost involved for you. Our service has been used for Service Awards for large companies, golfing awards and equipment, wedding gifts, promotional items and much more! We've worked with some of the most successful Irish companies across a range of sectors from software to hotels to smaller business and clubs who are looking for an array of corporate gifts for specific events to individuals looking for a single gift.
